

Briess joins the Organic Trade Association

Date: August 25, 2004

Contact: Bernadette Wasdovitch, Marketing Manager, bwasdovitch@briess.com, (920) 849-7711

CHILTON, WISCONSIN— Briess Malt & Ingredients Company, a division of Briess Industries Inc., has joined the Organic Trade Association. All Briess manufacturing facilities have been certified to produce organic malts, malt extracts and other value-added grain ingredients since 1990. Certified organic base and specialty malts produced by Briess are used by microbreweries to brew many styles of organic specialty beers in response to growing consumer interest. Briess certified organic ingredients are also supplied to food and beverage manufacturers for the production of organic or natural energy and nutrition bars, baked goods, cereal, dairy products, confectionery, pet foods and more.

Brad Rush, Briess' Manager of Quality, Health, Safety and Environmental, oversees the company's organic program. Briess Malt & Ingredients Company is located in Chilton, Wisconsin. It is a certified woman-owned business with roots dating back to 1876.

- end -